e-Learning, Courses and Training

This is the e-learning server for courses starting in the year 2011. The association offers a large number of courses and professional training. The focus is set on Internet, multimedia working and project management.

Here are the e-learning courses for the current offered courses. With this courses you manage the distance learning (that's part of the course), get the materials for the course. With the published material you may repeat what you have heard.

The new equipment is based on more than 20 high level laptops with Windows 7 as operating system, a network (Windows 2008), color printer and color copy machine. For presentations we use our Panasonic interactive board.
