FACTS ABOUT PRAGUE (for I.N.S.E.R.T. method)

Historical fact: Prague Castle is listed in the Guinness Book of World Records as the largest castle in the world (70 000 m²).

Medieval fact: Charles Square is one of the largest squares in the world and was the largest town square of the medieval Europe. It used to be called "The Big Marketplace" or "Cattle Market".

Popular fact: The most famous square is certainly the Wenceslas Square, formerly known as Horse Market. It was renamed Saint Wenceslas square (Svatováclavské náměstí) in 1848 on the proposal of Karel Havlíček Borovský.

Useless fact: The Prague pneumatic post is the world's last preserved municipal pneumatic post system. It is an underground system of metal tubes under the wider centre of Prague, totaling about 55 kilometres in length. It crosses the river Vltava three times.

Weird fact: You can visit the Astronomical Clock not only in Prague but even thousand miles away in Seoul. The replica was built in a popular district Hongda and works as a restaurant and exhibition centre.

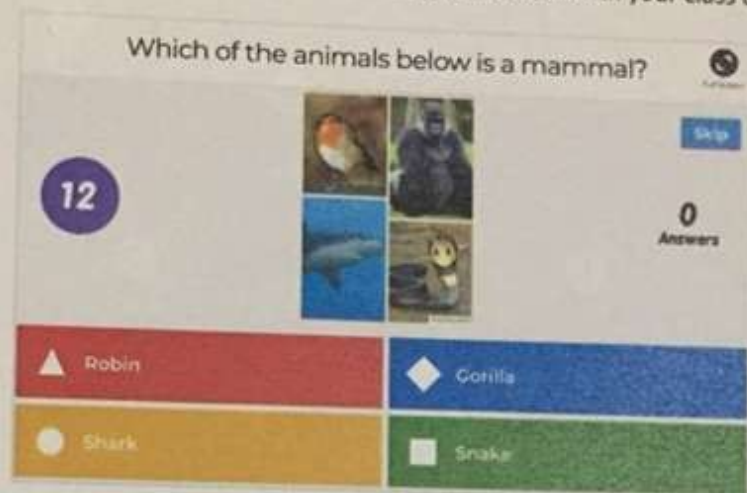

Interesting fact: Prague Subway (metro) comprises three lines, serving 57 stations, and consists of a transit network 59.3 km long. The shortest distance is between Hlavní nádraží (Main Train Station) and Muzeum (425 m = 0.26 mi.), the longest distance is between Nádraží Holešovice (Holešovice Train Station) and Kolyšev (2748 m = 1708 mi.).

Random fact: The Petřín Lookout Tower is accessible via 299 stairs. You can see a spectacular view of the city whilst on the tower and on the lookout right at the top, 51 metres high.
